

B. & O. CONDUCTOR INJURED IN FALL

Ed Jackson Fell From Top of Freight Car Near Rivervale and is Painfully Hurt.

LEFT ARM BROKEN AT ELBOW.

Was Walking Near the End of The Car When He Slipped Because of Dew on the Tip Roof.

Ed Jackson, a conductor on the B. & O. S-W., fell from the top of a freight car near Rivervale this morning and was very painfully injured. His left arm was broken at the elbow, his back severely sprained and he received several scratches and bruises. He was brought here on eastbound train No. 4 arriving here at 9:08 and taken to the Schneck Memorial Hospital where his injuries were given proper attention. While he is not regarded as being seriously hurt his injuries are quite painful and it will be some time before he can resume his work.

Jackson was expecting to receive an order at Rivervale and walked out upon the top of a box car which had been coupled behind the caboose because of a broken draw bar. There was considerable dew upon the tin roof of the car and when he was walking near the rear end of the car he slipped and fell between the rails. His left elbow struck the edge of the rail and besides fracturing the bone a deep gash was cut in his arm. His back was also sprained in the fall.

Jackson is the second patient to be taken to the new hospital and both of them are employees of the B. & O. S-W. Charles Cordell was the first patient in the building, having been injured at Medora when he jumped from his engine when the flue in the engine burst. He is improving slowly and it will be some time before he is released.

A CAMP MEETING

Will Probably be Held Here Next Summer.

The Jackson County Holiness Association of which Mrs. M. F. Gerrish is president will hold a three days' convention at the Nazarene church, March 31st to April 2nd.

Mrs. Mattie Wines of Indianapolis, will preach each evening and twice on Sunday. All who are interested in the work are urged by the officers to attend.

At this convention steps are to be taken preparatory to the holding of a camp meeting here next summer.

Spring Hats.

The new spring street and tailored hats are now on display at the Palace Millinery, No. 6 East Second street and an invitation to the ladies to call and see them is extended. Watch for announcement for display of dress hats next week.

Nazarene Receive $400.

Our friends will be glad to know the plan we are using to lift the indebtedness, on our church, is meeting with good success and we desire to keep the ball rolling, until the whole amount is wiped out. Many of our friends have responded to this call, and they do not stop with the "quarter" but all the way up to $25.00 have been received. Up to Monday of this week $400 clear of expenses has been received. We are expecting to hear from many more from Seymour and vicinity.

We wish to thank the many who have so promptly responded to this call. If you have received one of our letters we trust you will not forget us. Doubtless there are many more with whom we are not personally acquainted who have not received one of our letters and who will be glad to assist us, if so enclose your offering to our treasurer, Mrs. M. F. Gerrish.

Thanking you for your help, we remain yours for the advancement of Christ's Kingdom in Seymour.

J. W. Short, Pastor.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING.

Held at Presbyterian Church Wednesday Evening.

There was a large attendance at the congregational meeting at the Presbyterian church Wednesday evening. The reports received from the different committees and officers showed the church to be in excellent condition financially and otherwise. E. S. Himebaugh was reelected church treasurer, W. P. Masters, elder and Stanley Switzer and E. S. Himebaugh deacons.

By a considerable majority the congregation voted in opposition to the improvement of Walnut street as proposed by the city council.

OBSERVANCE OF EASTER

April 16 is Date.—Day Fixed in Connection with Vernal Equinox.

Easter this year will come on April 16 and plans and specifications for spring hats and spring costumes are being given attention now.

March 21, the vernal equinox, the first day of spring in northern latitudes, has been so closely connected with the observance of Easter that the two subjects were included in a decree passed in the great council of Nice, A. D. 325:

"That everywhere the great feast of Easter should be observed upon one and the same day; and that not the day of the Jewish Passover, but, as has been generally observed, upon the Sunday afterwards."

To prevent all future disputes as to the time, the following rules were laid down:

That the 21st day of March shall be accounted the vernal equinox.

That the full moon happening on or next after the 21st of March shall be taken for the full moon of Nisan.

That the Lord's day next following that full moon be Easter day.

But if the full moon happen upon a Sunday, Easter day shall be the Sunday after.

In order to insure uniformity in the observance of Easter a canon had previously been passed, but was not conclusive as was the work of the council of Nice.

ATTORNEYS BUSY DURING LAST WEEK

Case of State Against "Trim" Wilson On Trial Today.—Many Witnesses Were Called.

DIVORCE CASES ARE HEARD.

Herman Sitterding Plead Guilty to Assault and Battery and is Fined $20.

This is the last week of the Jackson circuit court and the closing days have been busy ones for the court officials and the attorneys. At the end of the term there are usually a large number of motions, answers and other pleadings to be filed and the lawyers are busy closing up the cases before court adjourns. The docket has been light this term and there have been several vacations since court convened.

Court was in session this morning and the case of "Trim" Wilson was called. The defendant is charged with having unlawfully in possession $115 belonging to William Robbins, of Tampico. Robbins checked the money out of the bank and lost his pocket-book upon the street in Crothersville. The case was set for yesterday but was postponed on account of the illness of one of the witnesses.

Two divorce cases were called in the circuit court today. In the case of Mary Walls against James Walls the plaintiff was granted the divorce in default of the appearance of the plaintiff.

The case of Lula Godfrey against Thomas Godfrey was contested. Cruel treatment was the ground for divorce by both parties. Each are asking for the custody of the son. Elsner & Kasting were the attorneys for the plaintiff and F. W. Wesner for the defendant.

The case of D. A. Lucas against J. Newt. Gibson was settled today. The plaintiff alleged that the defendant was indebted to him as a partner in the printing business. Judge O. H. Montgomery and F. W. Wesner, attorneys for the defendant, offered to settle the case of $550 which included the interest to date, and the offer was accepted through Lewis & Swails, attorneys for Lucas.

Herman Sitterding plead guilty to a charge of assault and battery and was fined $20 and costs. The defendant was the man who drew a revolver on Town Marshal John Russell, of Brownstown, and at the point of the weapon marched him from Ewing to Brownstown. At the opportune time the marshal dodged from the point of the gun and shot Sitterding. He was not seriously injured and was placed under bond. At the time of the trouble Sitterding was under the influence of liquor. No case was ever filed against the marshal as the citizens and witnesses believed that he was acting within the scope of his duty at the time he shot was fired.

Other cases which have been decided are:

James B. Murphy vs. Cudwith Able, specific performance of contract; dismissed by plaintiff.

John H. Abdon vs. John Abdon, et al, damages; continued.

Theodore Davis vs. Daisy Peugh, et al; partition of real estate made.

Rosa Gregor vs. Jacob Maderis, et al; title to real estate quieted.

James Hamilton vs. Emma Hamilton; divorce granted plaintiff.

W. H. Hutchinson & Son vs. Jas. M. Philips, on account; judgment for plaintiff for $200.

PLANS CHANGED FOR DEDICATION

Dedicatory Exercises For Schneck Memorial Hospital Will be Held in German M. E. Church.

PATIENTS CAUSE OF CHANGES.

Opportunity Given to Inspect Building From 6 Until 8 O'clock as Announced.—Public Invited.

Because of the condition of the two patients at the Schneck Memorial Hospital it was necessary to make several changes in the plans for the dedicatory exercises which will be held this evening. It was originally arranged to have the program given in the hospital building immediately after the luncheon, but today it was deemed advisable, under the existing circumstances, to have the program at the German M. E. church directly across the street from the hospital. There is no change in the time, however, and it will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. While this is a change it is an advantage as a larger number of visitors can be accommodated in the auditorium of the church than at the hospital building.

The luncheon will be served in the dining room of the hospital as first announced from 6 until 8 o'clock. Between these hours an opportunity will be given to the visitors to inspect the new building and a cordial invitation is given to the public to be present. The changes do not in any way affect the opportunity to inspect the building. A splendid musical program was to have been given by the young men's orchestra at the hospital during the hours of the luncheon, but this must necessarily be omitted. It was with much regret upon the part of the committee that this can not be given.

An elegant luncheon has been prepared and will be served for ten cents. Ice cream and cake will also be served for the same amount, and a handsome souvenir will be placed on sale for five cents.

The committee has sent out a number of invitations to physicians out of the city and a large number of out-of-town guests are expected besides the resident guests. Everything has been done that the visitors may have an enjoyable evening and many hundred people will take advantage of this opportunity to inspect the new hospital.

An excellent dedicatory program has been arranged. The building will be presented to the public by the donor, Mrs. Mary Schneck, and the speech of acceptance will be given by J. H. Matlock, president of the board of trustees. A dedicatory hymn will be sung, and several other musical selections given.

"Indiana Child Creed."

Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the State Board of Health, has issued several thousand copies of the "Indiana Child Creed," adopted by the board at a recent meeting.

The creed, which is designed to impress upon children the responsibility which they later will assume upon reaching maturity, rather than parents of the present generation, is as follows:

"Every child has the inalienable right to be born free from disease, free from deformity and with pure blood in its veins and arteries.

"Every child has the inalienable right to be loved; to have its individuality respected; to be trained wisely in mind, body and soul; to be protected from disease, from evil influences and evil persons and to have a fair chance in life; in a word, to be brought up in the fear and admonition of the Lord.

"That state is delinquent which does not continually strive to secure these inalienable rights to its children." This is the creed which Dr. Hurty mentioned in his address at the dedication of the new high school building.

The creed will be given wide publicity in the schools of the state and wherever children may be impressed with the effort to rid the state of disease. Dr. Hurty believes the health propaganda can be promulgated best among the children because they are most receptive. He has little faith in the effort of the state to improve the lives or habits of adults.

OLD FRAME BUILDING

On East Second Street to Give Way To Modern Business Block.

The old two story frame building next to Richart's clothing and shoe store will be torn down in a few days to make room for a modern business block which will be erected by Peter Richart. The present building is one of the oldest on Second street and was erected many years ago.

The new building will be modern in every respect and will be equipped for store purposes. The building adjoining occupied by W. A. Carter & Son will also be torn down within a few days and a modern building will be erected on that site. Mr. Carter will construct his building so that he can place his glove factory on the second floor. The first floor will be arranged for retail stores.

Very Unusual Performance.

In full view of a large and interested audience the entire Baker Stock Company "made up" for the performance before giving the show, last night at the Majestic. This was done in order to show just how those who are engaged in the Mimic world conduct themselves "behind the scenes." After the "make up" the stage hands "set" the stage with scenery and the play was on. A play that for nearly three hours convulsed the audience with laughter. It again held her audience in amazement by her wonderful work. Last night she was taken down in the audience and did her work. This was to show that no wires, phones, concealed confederates or other mechanical devices are used. It's answers to questions was marvelous and as one lady remarked if she had lived two hundred years ago she would have been "burned for a witch," so incomprehensible is her work.

Tonight a new drama will be produced, "A Ragged Princess". It is also "Amateur" night.

CHANGES WILL BE MADE SOON

A Number of Well Known Business Concerns Will Have New Locations.

THREE CORNERED DEAL MADE.

A. Steinwedel, John A. Ross and Fred Eudaly In It.—Ben Simon Changes Plan.

There will be a number of changes in the business district soon.

The Seymour National Bank having arranged to tear down the building occupied by A. Steinwedel, to make way for a new bank building, Mr. Steinwedel was compelled to seek a new location. A deal has been made by which he will move to John A. Ross' building south of the First National Bank and Mr. Ross will move his shoe store to Charles Steinwedel's room on the east side of Chestnut street, at present occupied by Fred Eudaly's barber shop. The latter has rented of J. V. Dehler, the room south of the building at present occupied by A. Steinwedel. The interior of the Dehler room is being remodeled and put in first class condition. Mr. Ross had more room than was necessary in his own building and the change will give Mr. Steinwedel a good location and plenty of room.

Ben Simon has decided not to build at present on the lot south of the city building which he purchased so long ago. He has stopped the work on the excavation for the proposed building and has leased the T. S. Blish building at the corner of St. Louis Avenue and Chestnut street. The building is being remodeled and extended east the length of the lot and when completed will give Mr. Simons commodious quarters. He will use the entire first floor, which will be made one room 50x72 feet in dimensions.

Large display windows will be put in the front and there will also be windows on the side. Mr. Simons does not know yet whether he will sell his lot or build there later.

Initiation and Banquet.

At the meeting of the Knights and Ladies of Security last night one candidate was initiated. Following the work there was a banquet and social. Supt. Linke of the city schools, who was the initiate of the evening made an address.

In digging the big ditch across Stucker creek, north of town, last week, the steam dredge was left "high and dry" by the breaking of a dam below the boat letting the water run from under it. The crew was put to work rebuilding the dam by hand and it took two days to do with hand shovels what the steam shovel could have done in a few minutes if she could have reached the spot. The Napanee Drainage Company have made good progress with the construction of the canal thus far, having progressed over a mile and a half from the starting point.—Scott County Journal.

FREE MUNYON'S PAW PAW PILLS

Free at Nearest Drug Store.

Munyon's Paw Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods. They do not scour; they do not grip; they do not weaken; but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation. In my opinion constipation is responsible for most ailments. There are 20 feet of human bowels, which is really a sewer pipe. When this pipe becomes clogged, the whole system becomes poisoned, causing biliousness, indigestion and impure blood, which often produce rheumatism and kidney ailments. No woman who suffers with constipation or any liver ailment can expect to have a clear complexion or enjoy good health. If I had my way I would prohibit the sale of nine-tenths of the cathartics that are now being sold for the reason that they soon destroy the lining of the stomach, setting up serious forms of indigestion, and so paralyze the bowels that they refuse to act unless forced by strong purgatives.

Munyon's Paw Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weaken; they enrich the blood instead of impoverish it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it.

These pills contain no calomel, no dope; they are soothing, healing and stimulating. They school the bowels to act without physic.

Striking ironworkers at McKeesport won their cause. Hope of agreement between the Missouri Pacific and striking Knights of Labor was abandoned; 1,500 Knights of Labor struck at the Wilmington Morocco works.

THE HALL OF FAME.

HARRIET BEECHER STOWE—Author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Born Litchfield, Conn., June 14, 1811; died at Hartford, Conn., July 1, 1896. Sister of Henry Ward Beecher. Married Calvin E. Stowe, a noted educator. Educated at Hartford and taught school there and at Cincinnati. She wrote many books, of which "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was by far the most famous. This first appeared in serial form in a Washington newspaper and attracted little attention. When published as a book, however, it almost immediately had a great vogue. A half million copies were sold in the United States in five years. No single modern novel has been so widely read or had so much influence. Many of her other novels concern New England life. She also wrote "Lady Byron Vindicated."

BLAUTH'S SHORTAGE GROWING

It Is Now Declared That Discrepancy in Accounts of Teller and Bookkeeper of Evansville Trust and Savings Company Will Run as High as $45,000—For Ten Years John Blauth Had Not Left His Books for a Day.

Evansville, Ind., March 23.—John Blauth, teller and bookkeeper of the Evansville Trust and Savings company, has been found to be short about $45,000 in his accounts. The examination has not been completed. Blauth, who is thirty-three years old and well connected, received $1,000 a year salary. He was under a $5,000 bond. He lived at the rate of $3,000 to $4,000 a year. In the ten years that he was alleged to have been manipulating the records, Blauth never took a vacation, was never absent from the banking room a day when the bank was open, and never went to luncheon. He carried his lunch with him and kept it in a drawer of the desk at which he worked. He ate it spread out on his books and never permitted the books to be out of his possession until they were closed for the day.

Blauth has not been arrested, but is accompanied by a detective when he walks out, and his home has been guarded constantly for several days. The teller and bookkeeper says he is not short, and declares the books were muddled when they were turned over to his keeping. He has employed an attorney, pending action by the bank officers.

QUASHED INDICTMENT

Former Treasurer of Marion County Released on Technicality.

Indianapolis, March 23.—Sitting as special judge in the case of the state against Oliver P. Ensley, former county treasurer, Ovid B. Jameson decided that the indictment charging Ensley with the embezzlement of $19,000 of public funds was not good, and therefore should be quashed. He permitted the defendant's attorneys to withdraw Ensley's plea of not guilty, which was necessary in order to entertain the motion to quash, and then quashed the indictment.

Judge Jameson found that the indictment was insufficient on account of its failure to charge any demand on the defendant, Ensley, by his successor for the money in question. The special venire of 125 men and the regular panel were dismissed, as the quashing of the indictment, for the present, at least, ends the case as far as the criminal court is concerned, and the defendant was discharged.

Prosecutor Baker says he will take an appeal to the supreme court. Should the supreme court uphold Judge Jameson's decision that the indictment is bad, the Ensley case will be ended for all time. Should the supreme court reverse the decision, the case could be tried.

The case was tried on the same indictment one year ago when the indictment was held to be good by Judge Jameson A. Pritchard, the judge of the criminal court. The jury disagreed, ten of the jurors holding that Ensley was guilty and two holding out for acquittal. This made a new trial necessary.

Slain For His Importunity.

South Bend, Ind., March 23.—Angered because John O'Conner persisted in appealing to him for a loan of $5, William Kurackiewicz murdered him, according to a story told the police by the man in whose saloon the crime was committed. O'Conner had had trouble and seemed greatly in need of money, according to the story. He appealed to Kurackiewicz, and pleaded with him in the matter until the latter became angry and struck him over the head with a piece of pipe. The blow cracked O'Conner's skull, and he died a short time later. Kurackiewicz is in custody.

Movement National in Scope.

Indianapolis, March 23.—The state board of health will send out within a few days circulars outlining an observance for "Tuberculosis Sunday," April 30. The movement is national in scope, fostered by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Governor Marshall has been asked to issue a proclamation calling for a general observance of the day throughout the state.

Big Drainage Project.

Valparaiso, Ind., March 23.—Special Judge Stels of South Bend ordered the construction of the Burns ditch. The ditch will cost in the neighborhood of $800,000 and will reclaim 200,000 acres of land lying south of Gary and across the northern border of Porter county.

Costly Blaze at Mt. Vernon.

Mt. Vernon, Ind., March 23.—Fire destroyed the large warehouse belonging to Stevens & Herrmann. Loss, $35,000; partly covered by insurance. The fire was caused by a spark falling on the building from a passing locomotive.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. Cheney & Co. MYSTERIOUS CABLE STORY IS REVIVED

Did Japan Have a Midway Station At Guam?

San Francisco, March 23.—A story that a cable end was recently picked up by the United States cutter Pathfinder while making soundings in the broad channel which separates the Ladrone archipelago was brought here by John Buckley, deck engineer on the transport Crook. Buckley declares he received the information of the finding of the cable off an obscure promontory of Guam from a seaman in Manila, one of the crew of the Pathfinder.

Buckley further says it was an open secret in Manila before the Crook left there six weeks ago that a wireless station in operation by Japan was found in a remote corner of Guam, and that it had been quietly confiscated by the United States garrison and the Japs operating it had been deported. The mysterious cable was traced to a landing on the island. It was tapped and communication established, not with Hong Kong or Manila, but with Yokohama.

Buckley left here for Honolulu on the Crook, but before sailing declared again that the Guam cable story was true, but the government had suppressed the facts out of regard to Japan.

First Degree Murder Charged.

Indianapolis, March 23.—Mrs. Alice Poehler, who shot Carl V. Storey of Columbus, Ind., in a room at the Braden hotel, Jan. 12, has been indicted for murder in the first degree. The shooting was the culmination of a love affair.

You Will Be Proud of the appearance of your stove

It makes old stoves look like new and lasts four times as long as any other shine. Don't imagine all brands of stove polish are alike. Black Silk is different. It's so much better than other stove polishes that there is absolutely no comparison. It's in a class all by itself. It makes a brilliant, glossy shine that anneals to the iron—don't rub or dust off. Give it a trial. Try it on your parlor stove—your cook stove or your gas range. If you do not find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money.

Here is what some of the ladies write us:

"I like Black Silk Stove Polish better than any I have ever used. People say, 'where did you get your new stove,' and I tell them it's Black Silk Stove Polish that makes it look like new."

"I will not use any other kind when I can get Black Silk Stove Polish. It makes stoves look nicer and stay nice longer than any other polish."

"Black Silk Stove Polish is by far the best I ever used. I have tried many different kinds but find none as good."

"I like Black Silk Stove Polish better than any I ever used. Several parties in this neighborhood are anxious to get some of your polish since they saw my stove after using it."

Ask your hardware and stove dealer for Black Silk Stove Polish and refuse a counterfeit brand. Costs you no more than the ordinary kind so why not have the best?

JAPANESE WAR SCARE ALL OFF

The President Puts Foot Down
On Foolish Talk.

RIDICULOUS AND UNWARRANTED

Finding Upon Return From the South
That Reports of Trouble With Japan Were Flying Through the Air,
Mr. Taft Calls in Japanese Ambassador and Assures Him That There Is No Foundation For Such Talk.

Washington, March 23.—Baron Uchida, the Japanese ambassador, called at the White House at the request of the president, and in a long talk with Mr. Taft was assured that there was no foundation for the reports that this government in ordering the troops to Texas and the Mexican border had one eye directed across the Pacific. Primarily the president called in the Japanese ambassador to congratulate him upon the consummation of the negotiations for the treaty of commerce and navigation between the United States and Japan. The formal exchange of treaties between the two nations will be made on April 4. The president told the Japanese ambassador that never,
so far as his knowledge permitted him to speak, had the relations between the United States and Japan been more friendly.

The president told callers that he was very much surprised when he returned from his southern vacation to find reports of trouble with Japan flying through the air. The president told his visitors that such reports were most ridiculous and unwarranted.

Affairs in Statu Quo.

The Mexican tangle was taken up by the cabinet. It was the first meeting of the official family in two weeks, but other business was of secondary importance compared to the discussion of the Texas maneuvers and the situation in the republic south of the Rio Grande. It was decided at the cabinet meeting that it is now time for this government to "stand pat." Affairs in Mexico and in Texas just at present are in statu quo and no further demonstration of any kind is contemplated. The administration advisers feel that there is nothing that this government can do at present and that it is better that Mexico be left entirely free to see if she cannot work out her own salvation.

There is a feeling, among some members of the cabinet at least, that the two factions in Mexico will get together despite the announcements to the contrary of the insurrecto jun-tas in various cities in the United States. There is also expressed a belief that President Diaz and his government are not in such bad shape as has been represented. Notwithstanding the belief, there is great interest in official circles as to who might succeed Diaz. There is little doubt that Washington was inclined to look with favor for a time upon Finance Minister Limantour, but since the minister gave out interviews criticising the United States for attempting to "coerce" Mexico by sending the troops to Texas, his stock has fallen considerably here.

A WIDER FIELD

For Church in Rural Districts Is Advocated.

Decatur, Ill., March 23.—Believing the country church is failing in its purposes because it does not administer to the needs of its people in social and physical matters, the Interchurch Conservation congress meeting here adopted resolutions advising the installation of tennis courts, baseball diamonds, and gymnasium apparatus for the members.

The congress also favored conserving the strength of the rural congregation by combining the weak and strong in communities where there are several weak churches.

Prof. Hayes of the University of Illinois advocated the taking by the church of entire charge of the recreation of youth and older persons.

Big Park Project Advanced.

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—Govern-nor Deneen has signed the bill empowering the Lincoln park commission to issue $875,000 in bonds for the completion of the outer park belt along the north shore.

TROOPS SENT TO THE THREATENED PLACES

Texas Border Settlers Send Out a Cry of Alarm.

San Antonio, March 23.—Under command of Lieut. Summerville a troop of the Third cavalry is riding over the worst country in the southwest to get to Terlingua, Brewster county, Texas, ahead of a band of Mexican cattle rustlers and half-starved insurrectos, who are reported to be headed on pillage bent against this lonely outpost of the United States. Brigadier General Joseph W. Duncan not only ordered that troop out on its ninety-five-mile hike over the bad lands, but he is moving other bodies of cavalry and infantry to threatened points along the border, preparing for threatened trouble, having received calls for assistance from citizens of several border towns along the Rio Grande who fear that roving bands of starving insurgents and noncombatants will be driven to attack them.

General Duncan said that the situation along the border throughout the length of his department was one that demanded ceaseless vigil. The prime object of preventing the breaking of neutrality laws has now been complicated by a savage reflex of the fighting across the border in the Mexican state of Chihuahua. Starvation is now so acute through all the country where the insurrectos have passed that the noncombatants and the element of bad men are being forced northward to prey upon the unprotected stock ranches and mining camps in the Great Bend country at the extreme southwest end of Texas.

Fell Beneath the Cars.

Connersville, Ind., March 23.—Walter Daniels, aged seventeen, was killed under the wheels of a Big Four freight car which was switching near the station here. He jumped on the car, fell and was run over.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Fire in the customs house at Buenos Aires destroyed merchandise valued at $3,000,000.

Nine men were killed in a mine at East Cannonsburg, Pa., when a great mass of loose slate in the roof fell.

The first referendum election held in Tacoma resulted in a decisive victory for the anti-treating ordinance.

It is understood that Mr. Sheehan has decided to withdraw from the New York senatorial race so as to leave the way clear for the selection of a compromise candidate.

The curtain has rung down on what will probably be the last race meeting to be held at Tampa. The Florida state law prohibiting betting will go into effect May 30.

Some joker hoisted a black flag over the dome of the new Boston stock exchange. Emblazoned upon it was a skull and crossbones. Upon its discovery it was removed forthwith.

A radiograph of Jack Johnson's skull shows that the champion has a skull ranging from one-half to three-quarters of an inch thick, which is more massive than the skull of a Texas steer.

A story has been going the rounds in Texas that bond buyers in New York have financed the Mexican revolution for the purpose of buying Mexican bonds cheaply, after which they will end the war.

SUSTAINED BY THE PRESIDENT

Mr. Taft Conveys Sympathy to Dr. Washington.

EXPRESSES HIS CONFIDENCE

In His Own Handwriting President
Taft Conveys to Noted Negro Educator an Expression of the Distress
the Latter's Adventure Has Caused Him and Attests His Sympathy For and Confidence in Him.

New York, March 23.—Wilford H.
Smith, Booker T. Washington's lawyer, says that he has discovered what he calls the real motive for the assault on Dr. Washington in front of 11½ West Sixty-third street, on last Sunday night. He declares that Mrs.
Albert Ulrich, the woman who says
Dr. Washington spoke to her, mistook him for a negro who had tried to steal her ten-year-old daughter two or three weeks ago. She told her husband, so Lawyer Smith says, that "that same negro" was hanging around the apartment house on Sunday night, and the beating followed.

The lawyer also asserted that on the strength of new evidence he has turned up regarding the episode he will ask to have Ulrich indicted for felonious assault. He said two or three witnesses would swear that Dr. Washington did not enter the apartment house beyond the vestibule and therefore could not have attempted to peer into anybody's flat, and that at least one witness will tell about the beating as he saw it from an upper window of the same house.

Dr. Washington has received from President Taft, in the president's handwriting, a letter in which the president said he was greatly distressed at the misfortune, and expressing "sympathy" and "confidence."

Dr. Washington said to the reporters: "I want you to make two things very plain. They cannot be made too strong. First, I had not taken a drop of liquor. Do I look like a drinking man? Second, I did not speak to a soul—man, woman or child—in that house. The whole thing is absurd. Do you think I would go to a house and do anything so foolish? Do you think I would speak to a woman on the street?"

Dr. Washington is feeling much better today.

NEW PENITENTIARY

An $8,000,000 Penal Institution Proposed For Illinois.

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—Colonel
Ira C. Copley of Aurora and James A.
Patten of Evanston, as members of the new state penitentiary commission, appeared before the house appropriation committee and argued for an immediate appropriation of $1,000,- 000 to carry on the work of getting a new site for the Joliet penitentiary.
They also explained an elaborate plan for the new penitentiary which will eventually cost $8,000,000 to execute.

A subcommittee was appointed to make an investigation of the plan and report back to the full committee.

PACKERS LOSE

Judge Carpenter Holds That Beef Barons Must Stand Trial.

Chicago, March 23.—Judge George
A. Carpenter handed down a decision in the United States district court denying the motion of attorneys for the beef packers to quash the three indictments against them charging a combination in restraint of interstate trade, engaging in a conspiracy in restraint of interstate trade and monopolizing interstate trade. Judge Carpenter's decision is what is known as an interlocutory order, from which there is no appeal.

School Treasurer Goes Wrong.

New York, March 23.—Ferdinand P.
Kay, treasurer of the Oil City (Pa.)
school board, walked into a police station and asked to be locked up. "I blew in $600 of the funds of the school board," he said, "and am now down and out. I might as well give myself up." He was committed to the Tombs pending the arrival here of the sheriff from Oil City.

Broderick's Trial in Progress.

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—The trial of State Senator John Broderick is in progress in the Sangamon county Circuit court before Judge James A.
Creighton. Broderick is proprietor of a saloon in Chicago. He is charged with having given State Senator D. W.
Holstlaw $2,500 to induce him to vote for William Lorimer for the United States senate.

Another Detective Killed.

Danville, Ky., March 23.—Violence in connection with the strike of white firemen on the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific railroad started again when Oscar Spaeth of Chicago, a detective employed in guarding strikebreakers, was shot and killed.

WANTED MONEY.

Passenger on Hoosier Flyer in Trouble.

Being drunk on a Hoosier Flyer cussing the conductor in addition to being intoxicated cost Philip Shirlie, of Louisville, $26 in the city court this morning. Shirlie is a cigar maker and lives at 750 South Shirley street, Louisville, he told the court. His face wore a very worried look when he sought a telephone to try and persuade his wife to send him money sufficient to pay the fines and costs taxed against him.

Shirlie boarded a Hoosier Flyer at Louisville Tuesday evening and when the car reached Seymour conductors were changed. Conductor Coons, of this city, was taking up tickets and asked Shirlie for his paste board.
Shirlie replied with a volley of curses witnesses say. He continued to raise a disturbance and a telephone message was sent to this city for the police. The officers met the car when it arrived here at 8:47 o'clock and Shirlie was lodged in jail.

This morning he was penitent when the traction company appeared against him in the city court and he pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication and also one of profanity. He was fined $5 and costs for being drunk and $1
and costs for using profane language.
Mayor Barnaby explained that he would have to stay in jail 26 days if he did not pay his fines and costs or get the amounts stayed and then it was that the cigar maker asked permission to telephone his wife.

Mrs. Shirlie was not in an amiable frame of mind when her husband telephoned for funds this morning but she promised to telegraph the coin here during the day and Shirlie went back to jail to wait for the money.

The traction company had filed a charge of provoke against Shirlie as well as charges of intoxication and profanity but after he had pleaded guilty to two charges the provoke afdavit was not pushed. The man was on his way from Louisville to Indianapolis where he said he had employment.—Columbus Republican.

FOREIGN MINISTER GREY FOR TAFT PEACE PLAN.

British Foreign Secretary's Speech For It Arouses Enthusiasm.

Sir Edward Grey, British foreign secretary, recently evoked cheers by unqualifiedly endorsing the peace proposals submitted by President Taft and Secretary Knox, which contemplated a permanent treaty for the arbitration of all questions between England and America.

When Sir Edward referred to the possibility of the adoption of President Taft's proposal he was listened to in tense silence. If, he said, two of the greatest nations should thus make it clear that in no circumstances were they going to war again the effect of their example on the world must have beneficent consequences.

Nations entering such an agreement, continued the secretary, might be exposed to attack by a third nation. This would probably lead to their making another agreement to join each other in any case of quarrel with a third power in which arbitration was refused.

"In entering an agreement of this kind," said Sir Edward, "there would be risks, and you must be prepared for some sacrifice of national pride. I know that to produce such changes public opinion must reach very high ideals, higher than some think possible, but men's minds are working in this direction, and history affords instances of reaching such an ideal point. It was so in the case of slavery when the United States rose up, not counting the cost in blood or money or the risk of national existence."

In conclusion the secretary said, "The general adoption of such a system might leave some armies and navies still in existence, but they would remain not in rivalry, but as the world's police."

Utopian as his hopes might seem to some, he believed that he would live long enough to see some progress toward their realization. "Nations," he said in a grave peroration, "are in bondage to army and navy expenditures. May the time soon come when they shall realize that the law is a better remedy than force."

The foreign secretary's speech was loudly cheered and created a deep impression.

CHAMP SAYS, "GO SOUTH."

Less Food, Clothes and Fuel Make It "Poor Man's Land."

Representative Champ Clark of Missouri, the coming speaker of the national house of representatives, has amended the famous saying of Horace Greeley, "Go west, young man—go west!" and made it read, "Go south, my boy—go south!"

Supplementing his amendment, Mr.

ONE LEGGED MEN TO RACE.

A Chance For All of the Peg Legs in the Nation.

A challenge to all the one legged men in the country to participate in an endurance foot race from Minneapolis to St. Louis, beginning April 2, has been issued by Harry Meyers of the first named city. He has begun training.

Meyers has been trying out a new artificial racing leg. He thinks the record he plans to make will cause many sound men to hustle to equal it.

Contestants who take up his proposition must deposit a side bet of $1,000 each. He said he hoped there would be at least twenty.

The walk is to be over the route of the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad. There are to be no handicaps. Strict rules will not be observed, however, except to make sure that no contestant rides.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

IF a young man is handsome and wears swell clothes he can generally find some nice girl who will take these as an outward and visible sign of an inward nobility.

The man whom his friends call the good fellow usually cultivates his grouch in the home garden.

Sometimes a woman tells her age just to show how brave she is.

Every time a man slips down on a polished floor he says uncomplimentary things about the woman's page in the home paper.

When a woman buys a new hat she searches a week for a novel style, but when a man buys a hat he asks the salesman for one just like this.

When a man gets a new overcoat all the women in the street just know his wife made him do it.

A pretty girl can always get a laugh out of any old joke.

A man's idea of emancipation is telling his wife nix on the hook up.

CHAPTER V.

AS his secretary left the room to procure Valentine Warden Handler glowered darkly at the door that closed behind him and through which No. 1289 was to be unwillingly brought. He would show this man who had dared to talk to the lieutenant governor that Billy Handler was the boss of Sing Sing prison and no one else, even lieutenant governors to the contrary. Discipline must be preserved. Yes, that was it—the old explanation that always held good when a prisoner who offended the warden in any way was meted out the vengeance that the warden would not be denied. Once there was a thin chested, cough racked little election inspector “doing three” for crooked work at the polls who had had his front teeth kicked down his throat because he would not shine the warden’s shoes. As for this sick Mr. Valentine, he was altogether too independent, too, and the warden would give him the lesson of his life. He would—

The door opened, and in came Smith, holding Jimmy Valentine by the arm. The warden stood at his desk. “Bring him over here,” he cried hoarsely, pointing to the space in front of his desk.

The secretary slipped his hand up behind the prisoner’s neck and with a violent heave flung Valentine forward so that he was barely able to prevent himself from falling flat on his face. Gritting his teeth, No. 1289 straightened himself and finally succeeded in suppressing the impulse that surged within him to spring at his cowardly assailant’s throat. Probably it was the realization of the fact that he knew himself to be more than an equal for Smith in a hand to hand conflict that enabled him to restrain himself—the contempt of a strong, confident man for an ignoble inferior.

Smith was larger and heavier, yes, but the man who had hip locked the burglar Cotton and had thrown him headlong to his death from the window of a rushing railway train was not one to be trifled with. Besides, no less a personage than George Bothner, the world’s lightweight wrestling champion, had taught Valentine the mysteries of the “grapevine,” the “cross buttock,” the “Cornwall heave,” the “flying mare,” the “back heel,” the rib crushing “scissors,” the waist and crotch holds and even the tortures of the deadly strangle holds, front and rear.

Handler bent over his desk, resting both his hands upon it, and sneered at Valentine.

“Why didn’t you smash him when he hit you, you coward?” he asked the helpless prisoner in purposely aggravating tones. “You’re losing your nerve in this little boarding house of mine; that’s what’s the matter with you. You haven’t any manhood left in you. And, say, Valentine, when we have had you here as our guest two years more you’ll be whining around like a puppy with the pink eye; that’s what you’re coming to. It’s bound to get you—this life—just like it gets all the rest of you thin skinned guys. Only a bum can live this life and keep his mind and his manhood.”

The cruel words of the warden sank deeply into Valentine’s soul, as Handler well knew they would. But the prisoner was determined that he would show no signs of weakening before the two men who hated him.

“I didn’t hit him because I’ll square myself when I get out,” answered Valentine defiantly, “and there are a few little things that I will square with you, too, Mr. Warden Handler. You know you have me in your power, and so do I. But, Handler, you’re going to like me better from now on because, realizing my position, I have dared go against you.”

But Valentine had mistaken his man. The respect that one fighting man has for another who fights him squarely found no place in the craven heart of Billy Handler. Valentine had yet something to learn of the psychology of jail wardens. Handler’s face took on a malignant expression. “Oh,” he sneered, “so I’m going to like you, am I? Well, just watch me. I’ll burke you, you!”

Handler lunged around the corner of his desk at the prisoner.

“Don’t burke me!” cried Valentine desperately.

Eyes gleaming with his vengefulness, with hands outstretched, the warden came headlong at Valentine, who braced himself to withstand the shock of the oncoming body. Crouching, the prisoner primed himself to clutch one of the warden’s thumbs, which was carelessly extended outward from his hand—a trick Bothner had shown him. Once securing this thumb, it could be pulled back or twisted to the breaking point if necessary to cause an opponent to yield.

or by drawing the outstretched arm over his shoulder, wheeling his back to his foe as he did so, Valentine could bend sharply forward and throw his assailant helplessly over his head and on to the floor in a heap with the disconcerting “flying mare.”

But midway in his rush the warden stopped short. He had caught himself just in time. About to throw himself blindly at his intended victim, a thought (an inspiration he afterward considered it to be) flashed through his brain. The warden halted, much to the amazement of his secretary, Smith, who had been watching the proceedings with unconcerned experience in like happenings. Then Handler turned away, rested one hand on his desk and with the other stroked his heavy, square chin reflectively.

“God,” he pondered. “Suppose the lieutenant governor should get on to those deals in the contracts for supplies? He might, and then I’d need him to be my friend.”

Handler reached out, picked up a box from the desk and extended it to the tow thoroughly thunderstruck convict, who was slowly recovering from the mental strain of the last few moments. “Have a cigar,” smiled the warden graciously, with a sweeping bow. “Also permit me to offer you a chair, Mr. Valentine.”

“By the way,” he went on easily, “are you perfectly comfortable in your cell? If not, I want to know what I can do for you. I’m going to have Smith go to see you every day to do for you anything that you want, provided the rules of the prison permit, and maybe some things they don’t.”

Valentine, hardly believing what his eyes and ears told him actually to be occurring, dropped bewilderedly into the proffered chair and, taking a gift banded Havana from the box, stuck it eagerly between his lips.

“Have a light,” said the warden, striking a match and extending it to the end of Valentine’s cigar.

The secretary stood across the room near a door, eyes staring in his wonder as No. 1289 leaned back luxuriously in his chair, crossed one striped leg over the other and sent fragrant clouds of blue smoke toward the ceiling.

“This’ll be a regular Y. M. C. A. before we get through,” he gasped. “I think I’ll apply for a job as worsted holder for some old maids’ sewing society. This prison is getting altogether too genteel to suit me.”

When a young lad of good parentage and of sound training and education begins to chafe under the restraint of parental discipline it is time for the parents to exercise the wisdom got only from the lessons taught in the great school of the wide, wide world.

Theories and principles expounded ever so convincingly will not keep the growing boy at home after 7 o’clock in the evening when there is a chance to escape into the streets to meet the “bunch,” the alluring, versatile bunch whose plans so often include the annihilation of the Sioux warriors of the Dakota plains who have laid down the tomahawk to take up the agency clay pipe and store clothes.

That is to say, theories and principles merely will not suffice to restrain the impulsive, imaginative, action craving youths unless the parent combines with them enough knowledge of the world to convince the half formed, half trained youthful mind that the mentor has the best interests of the lad in mind, that he has been through it all himself and knows full well the joys and disappointments, the fears and hopes of early days.

And it is the habitually stern, optimistic, unyielding and academic parent who convinces the young lad that he knows nothing of the fascinating temptations of boyhood. The spirit of compromise is allowed to perish by such a parent; the spirit of rebellion grows in the son’s heart; a spirit nourished on the decay of the respect and love thrust aside by the father who would not understand.

A certain lad of sixteen years found life in his New England home far more circumscribed than was that of his companions of the same age and same comfortable position. He was not allowed to go swimming in the lake because his young friend Tommy Clark had narrowly escaped drowning. The fact that Tommy Clark could not swim and was “taking a dare” on that memorable occasion when he verged final.

The further fact that this boy aspired to be a mining engineer made no difference to this father or to this mother. It had already been decided for him that he must study for the ministry.

Three years passed. The lad was in college. The study of theology did not suit his temperament or his desires. He wanted, above all things, to go out into the world of action, to battle with the might of the strong man he was becoming against big, tangible odds; out in the open air under the open heavens, down in the bowels of the earth or wherever there were mines to be dug and equipped and operated. He wanted to study the problems that faced the men who decoyed the glistening ores from secretive Mother Earth, and he tarried with the idea that he could succeed in this profession.

It sat in his room in the college dormitory one sunny spring morning and wrote his father that he could not continue his study for the ministry; that he wanted above all other things in life to enter the school of mines at the university.

He waited five days. The answer came. The same night there were a vacant room and a vacant bed in the dormitory. Next morning came a search. Under a table was found a crumpled note that the tears of the lad had blurred as he read. The letter was taken to the president of the college. When this gray haired gentleman adjusted his spectacles he pressed the paper flat on his desk and read:

“If you do not continue your course in theology I will cease to pay your bills at college. Should you discontinue them you must return home, where I will secure you a position as bookkeeper at your uncle’s store.”

Signed to this eloquent, brief epistle was the name of the young man’s father.

Several years have passed since that crumpled letter was picked up from the floor of the college student’s room. Several years have passed since an aged couple, soon to eke out their meed of existence in a small country town, have heard news from the son who would not become a minister.

Several years have passed since a young college student appeared penniless and discouraged in a middle western city and vainly walked the streets for days, subsisting as best he might, in search of any kind of work that strong hands and arms could perform.

So there should be tempered judgment shown, say I, in dwelling on the present fate of Jimmy Valentine when it is considered that he was the ambitious lad who left the crumpled note lying on the floor in his bedroom and set out to fight the world single handed.

That Jimmy should have lost in his first grapple with life should afford no reasonable person ground for reproach. Those of us who have not lost as yet quite humanly perhaps incline toward comparisons which favor our own acknowledged virtues, but at the same time the environment of our fellow beings at critical periods in their lives should always be remembered when the final estimate is made. It is human to have human emotions. It is human to have inhuman ideas concerning some of our fellow men at various times; but, after all, why not adopt the optimistic philosophy of Jimmy Valentine himself? For was it not he who at the time “Frisco Eddie” bungled the “inside job” of a safe looting expedition in Omaha sought to soothe the latter’s feelings by saying sympathetically:

“Nobody is a failure until he admits it himself. You will never admit you’re a failure, Eddie, so cheer up. You, therefore, can never be one.”

Consequently Jimmy Valentine must be given a chance. His doctrine is the doctrine of hope. Give him a chance to apply it to himself and await uncondemningly and dispassionately the result.

If he succeeds in making a man of himself, a man such as his Creator intended him to be, who is there to say that his past has anything in it to concern a critical world? Or who is there to deny to Jimmy Valentine his birthright if he should miraculously redeem it?

But should he fail in the great test—well, perhaps no word should just now be sent regarding him to the old home in the little town, to the father and the mother who would not understand.

CONVENTIONAL, YET ATTRACTIVE.

Design 833, by Glenn L. Saxton, Architect, Minneapolis, Minn.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN.

This house, though of the conventional two story type, has distinct individuality in its artistic exterior. The arrangement of rooms utilizes every inch of space and provides many conveniences. This house should appeal to the many who insist on a bedroom in the first story. The finish in the first story can be either of birch or oak and in the second story of pine to enamel, with birch floors throughout. The size of the house is 28 by 30 feet. First story, nine feet; second story, eight feet. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $3,100.

By special arrangement with me the editor of this paper will furnish one complete set of plans and specifications of design No. 833 for $25.

Failed in Health

"My mother died six years ago," writes Miss Ruth Ward, of Jerseyville, Ill., "and left me to care for six children. I had never been strong; and this, with the shock of her death, was too much for me.

"I failed in health. I was tired all the time and did not want to go anywhere, nor care for company. I had the headache all the time and such bearing-down pains. A very dear friend advised me to take Cardui, as it had done her so much good, so I commenced to use it and now I am in good health."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Women's pains are relieved or prevented and women's strength is quickly restored, by Cardui, the woman's tonic. You yourself know best if you need it, or not.

If you do need it, do not delay, but commence to use it at once. Every day of delay, only lets you slide further down the hill.

Don't wait, then, but begin to take Cardui today, for its use, no matter how prolonged, cannot harm you and will surely do you good.

A SINGULAR WILL CASE

By ARTHUR W. BREUSTER

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Of all the strange coincidences I have ever heard none is stranger than one happening in my own life, and it led to important results.

One day, happening in at my lawyer's office, he said to me:

"By the bye, we have a big lot of papers in your case against Bunsby. It has all been settled up, and I would like to turn them over to you. We are overburdened here with dead documents."

He called an office boy and sent for the papers. They came to me in one large bundle, which I tucked under my arm, walked home with it, and threw it, without opening it, into an iron box kept for family records.

Ten years passed, during which period I went on an average to the box once or twice a year to toss into it some document that would probably never be needed again. I had no occasion to look into the box during all this period, but the time came when I found it necessary to overhaul it in a search for a missing paper. By the time I found my paper every separate bunch had been unrolled and their contents were all in confusion. Picking up a paper marked "Last will and testament of James Chieningsby," I was somewhat surprised to find such a document.

I opened and ran my eye over its contents. There was nothing to indicate the value of the estate, nor were the names of any of the legatees familiar to me. There were a few small bequests to different persons, and the residue was to be given to a minor. How the paper got into my box was a mystery. I was not interested in the will, but I was deeply interested in how it came to be where I found it. It must have been there a long while, but not more than twenty years, for the date it was executed was no further back than that. But it might have been put in my box much more lately than that.

I should have attached more importance to it if persons could not make more than one legal will. It struck me that this might be an old one which had been voided by a later one and had got mixed with old out of date papers. But that did not explain how it came to be in my possession, for it was not a paper in which I or any of my family, so far as I knew, had any interest. I looked it over carefully to see if there was any clue by which I could discover who were the legatees, but there was nothing to give me the slightest information concerning it. I took it to my desk in a room I occupied for smoking and placed it in a pigeonhole, intending to advertise it. But time passed, and I took no action.

Some time after this I married my stenographer and typewriter. She was very poor, and I was not rich. I was making a bare living and until our first child was born she retained her position in my service. Indeed, it was essential that she should, and when children came and I was deprived of her assistance in spite of all my efforts I was losing my grip and could not afford to hire another stenographer.

One morning while looking over my newspaper my eye drifted to real estate items. One of them mentioned the sale of a piece of property belonging to the Chieningsby estate. The name was an odd one, but it seemed to me that I had seen it somewhere before.

"My dear," I said to my wife, "did you ever hear of the name Chieningsby?"

"I had an uncle by that name, though I never saw him. He disappeared when he was a boy and was never heard from. All I know of him is that I heard my mother speak of him before she died."

I kept thinking of the name till suddenly it flashed upon me that I had seen it in the will found in my iron box. I went to my desk, took out the document and read the name of the testator—James Chieningsby. I called my wife and read the will to her. When I came to the name of the heir to the residue of the estate I stopped, wonder stricken. It was her maiden name.

She was as much mystified as I. All she knew of the name of Chieningsby was what she had told me. But we were both in a flutter of excitement. What did it mean? Then I remembered that a man may make a will every day if he likes and only the last one is of any value. Nevertheless I was aroused. I rushed out to my attorney, or the one who had once had my law business, showed him the document and was about to ask him to make an investigation for me when he exclaimed:

"By thunder!"

"Explains!" I cried impatiently. "Instead of answering me he called out to his partners. 'Here's a will for the Chieningsby estate.'"

"For heaven's sake tell me!"

"Where did you get this?"

"Found it in a box of mine where it has probably been for years."

"It represents an estate that has never been settled since no one has been found near enough of kin to claim it. If this is genuine all but these few bequests goes to Miss Katherine Miller, whoever she may be."

"She's my wife."

We were rich. The will had been left by the testator with my attorneys, had got mixed with the bundle of papers given to me and had come to light when most needed.

MAKING OF YOKES.

This Troublesome Accessory Adjusted In This Way.

The making of yokes is not an insignificant matter. It is often a puzzle even in the sewing room. Theoretically yokes are nothing but a small piece of thin material cut into a straight collar and a peplum to cover up the bare space of the neck; practically they are a nuisance, breaking up all theories, going against all rules and generally harassing those who make and those who wear them.

A good, sizable, old fashioned yoke that was cut by a waist pattern and was sewed in the blouse was not one-quarter the trouble that these tiny modern things are. They came through the universal wearing of partly low blouses, a fashion which is so insistent that women follow it in the making of their waists, then prepare a small yoke to put in when the waist is worn in the street on cold days or at any time when a low blouse is not appropriate.

Young girls who have the quality of youth in their necks can wear the collarless waist at all hours, but this freedom does not sit well on every woman. Age carries a certain degree of dignity, and the blouse with the low neck does not look quite well on women who have arrived at that time of dignity.

It is in deference to this taste that the majority of women who have good necks finish the blouse off with a V in front and a sailor collar of white or colored chiffon cloth or a round neck without a collar and then provide themselves with at least two yokes to wear when occasion demands.

It is these yokes that have caused all the trouble. How to keep them down, how to make them smooth, how to have them cleaned, are a trilogy of questions that women ask each other whenever they foregather.

Even when an inch or two of this yoke shows above the neck of the blouse it requires as much harness to keep it down as to keep a horse in the shafts. This harness method is as follows: The yoke is cut to the proper depth with the collar attached. One tape is run from the middle of the front to the waist line and one from the middle of each armhole, front, to the waist, then two down the back, one on each side of the middle, and all securely sewed to a tight belt made of broad tape which hooks at the back.

Perfume Boxes.

From the earliest ages perfumes and sweet odors have been enshrined in beautiful receptacles as an outward expression of the exquisite imprisoned essence. At the court of Queen Elizabeth of England the pomander was the most important perfume holder of the time. These balls were composed of perfumes and spices worked together with a special kind of garden mold. The pomanders seen in the cut are among a collection on exhibition in the Kensington museum, London.

SILVER POMANDER AND DUTCH PERFUME BOX.

Broom Pincushion.

A very dainty novelty is the broom pincushion. For this you will require a large flat cork, a meat skewer (a new one, of course) and a few yards of baby ribbon in some bright shade.

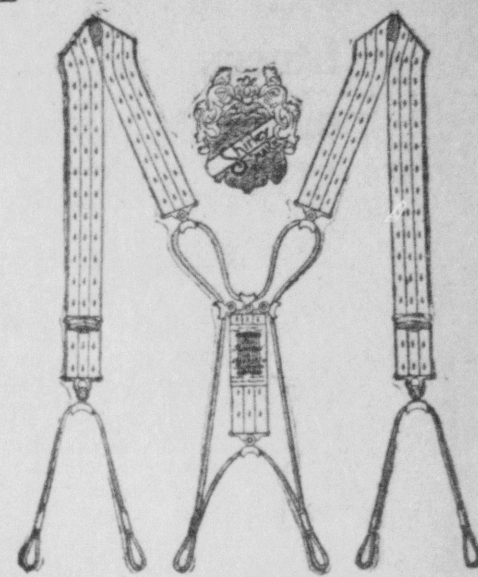

Cut a small hole in the cork and insert the skewer firmly through it. Now wind skewer and cork together with the ribbon until they are entirely covered. Two bows on the skewer will hold the ribbon tight so far.

The broom effect you will gain by the pins. They must be driven thickly into the underside of the cork, holding the ribbon at that point and at the same time giving a very good imitation of a tiny metal broom. These make very nice favors at informal parties, club meetings, etc.

Your Mark.

An individual fashion of marking one's handkerchiefs and underwear is to write one's name or initials on each piece exactly as the signature is made. The characters are then worked with mercerized cotton in stem or outline stitch. This is an excellent means of identification in times of need.

COLD STORAGE LAW IS ISSUE.

Will be Discussed at Conference in State House Tomorrow.

H. E. Barnard, pure food and drug commissioner, will hold a conference with cold storage proprietors and egg shippers tomorrow at the State House to discuss certain details of the operation of the cold storage law, which becomes effective in April. The law requires the inspection of all cold storage plants by inspectors of the State Board of Health, and the granting of licenses by the board, if conditions are found satisfactory. A fee of $10 is provided for each license, which is issued for one year. The law, further, gives the State Board of Health the power to draft necessary rules for the enforcement of the inspection clause, and the nature of these rules will be discussed. The law requires all cold storage products to be marked with the date of entering and the date of leaving the cold storage, and the question of marking packages also will be discussed and a system devised at the conference.

Mrs. Will Colvin, of Scottsburg, will move to Seymour next week.

Miss Nellie Jonas is building two modern cottages on Indianapolis avenue.

Mrs. Grace Price of Crothersville, has been quite ill at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fred Robbins on West Second street.

The office building of the old McDonald factory is being moved from its old location, and will be remodeled into a residence.

J. P. Ahl has sold his 80-acre farm one mile east of his home place to E. L. Pumphrey of Greensburg. The latter is moving to his new property.

Ira Gardner of Indianapolis, is here to attend the dedication of the Schneck Memorial Hospital. Mr. Gardner was the architect of the building.

John Wallace of Sparksville, was here this morning on business. He was formerly B. & O. agent but was recently retired on the pension list at the age of sixty-seven years.

A commission of lunacy was held this morning upon Chris Waincott. The physicians held that he should be sent to the Southeastern Hospital and application will be filed at once. The inquest was held before Justice John Congdon.

Dr. Prall and R. L. Mosely made a trade Wednesday which has given each one a guess as to what he now owns. The former let loose of 160 acres of good high ground near Kurtz and in return Mosely surrendered the title to a 5 room residence in Gas City.

The Seymour Council of Knights of Columbus have again made arrangements with S. A. Baldus to deliver his noted lecture on the "The Seven Ages." The lecture will take place on Tuesday, April 18th. Mr. Baldus is a renowned lecturer and is connected with one of the most popular lecture bureaus in this country.

Fresh county eggs, which can be boiled without a feeling of fear, are coming into the local markets in abundance. Hundreds of dozens are being received by the local poultry houses each week. Wednesday one retail dealer received forty-six cases which were sold here. The grocers are finding a ready retail market for much of the supply which they purchase.

Among the Crothersville people who went over to Brownstown this morning as witnesses in the Wilson and Perry case were Sylvester Applegate, Henry Bush, John Hamilton, John Nelson, Wash Rider, James Campbell, Dr. Mays, Dr. Wendell, Fred Kovernor, George Schuler, Tucker Herrod, Horace Moors, Miss Nettie Fagenbush, Mrs. Patrick and daughter.

Work on the court house is progressing rapidly. The old cupola has been torn down, which has made quite a change in the appearance of the building. Brick masons are now working on the new tower and with favorable weather will complete their part of the work this week. The roof contractors began work Monday putting on pitch and gravel roofs on the new north and south wings. When that is done the building will be practically enclosed and the work on the interior can be pushed more rapidly.

"What is a bluff?"
"Something made out of nothing."

Before and After.

The candidate is pretty certain
To promise everything in stock.
Elected—then he draws the curtain
And starts forgetting by the clock.

He spreads abroad some pretty false
On which his mind is firmly set.
Then calmly lays it on the table.
He knows the voters will forget.

COUNTESS GREY

Leader in Canadian Social Plans for Coronation Week.

There will be a number of elaborate entertainments at Ottawa in June in honor of the coronation of King George. Lady Grey, as the wife of the governor general, has the planning of these functions.

GREEN SWORE THAT HE WAS PENNILESS

Evades $500,000 Fine By Taking Pauper Oath.

Atlanta, Ga., March 23.—Benjamin D. Greene, convicted with John F. Gaynor of complicity with Captain Oberlin M. Carter in the Savannah harbor frauds, is a free man. United States Commissioner Colquitt allowed him to take the pauper oath, which freed Greene from the fine of $500,000 imposed in addition to his sentence of four years in the prison at Atlanta. More than a month ago Greene and Gaynor completed their prison terms, but they were held because of the fine of $500,000 hanging over each. After remaining in prison the required thirty days, each made application to take the pauper oath in order to nullify the fine and secure their release. Greene's application was bitterly opposed by the United States attorneys, who claimed that Greene and Gaynor had over $2,000,000 hidden out and that they ought not to be released until some part of the fine was paid.

Greene swore that he was without money, all his fortune of $2,000,000 having been consumed in losing speculations and in defending himself against the government's prosecution.

THEY STONED HIM

Mexican Official Bombarded When He Crossed River at El Paso.

El Paso, Tex., March 23.—So far as known, the first overt act against a Mexican official on United States territory has occurred in El Paso. Captain Ceyuda, chief-of-staff of General Navarro, was stoned by El Paso Mexicans when he crossed the river to get a horse which the general had purchased on this side. A number of insurrecto sympathizers, Mexicans, attacked the captain and the orderly who was leading the general's horse. Lieutenant Thuis, in command of the United States troops at the bridges, gave the captain protection. Captain Ceyuda did not appear angry but smilingly said that next time he came over he would not wear his uniform. Mexican officers have often crossed to this side of the river, but federal soldiers never come over. In fact, they are kept locked in their barracks constantly, to guard against their desertion. American troops who have been freely crossing the river to Juarez, have been ordered by their commanders to stay on this side. No trouble has occurred and the American officers want none.

Additional Indictments Returned.

Toledo, O., March 23.—Four new indictments have been returned against Judge Michael Donnelly by the grand jury, charging perjury, embezzlement and obtaining money by false pretenses. This makes six indictments now pending against the jurist. All the charges are based upon Donnelly's connection as president with the defunct German Fire Insurance company.

Gary Alderman Missing.

Gary, Ind., March 23.—Alderman Antony Baukus of the Patch is enrolled among Gary's long list of the missing. Constables closed his saloon and dance hall on a writ of attachment. Baukus was scheduled to appear before Judge Becker and answer charges that he permitted fifteen-year-old girls to take part in a play at his dance hall.

Wants Jack to Pay Up.

New York, March 23.—Jack Johnson is again a defendant at law. This time he is asked to come across with a mere $4,000 and remove from the rooms of Sculptor Carlo Sciarino a bust of himself which the sculptor spent many trying days to fashion into a likeness of the conqueror.
